Central Grocers Inc., is committed to and strives to meet the needs of its customers. In response to an increasing number of customers requesting cage-free eggs, Central Grocers formally announces its intention to transition to a 100 percent cage-free egg supply chain by 2025 subject to availability. The company will work with current suppliers during this transition in a way that ensures eggs are safely produced and affordably priced for all of its customers. Central Grocers currently carries 5 brands of cage-free eggs.

Central Grocers is a cooperative established in 1917 that serves over 500 retailers in the Midwest. All of our retailers work closely with their local communities and are committed to providing the highest quality products at the best possible value.
